Items listed as "Certified" do not require a kosher symbol unless they are marked with a star (*)

Due to continual changes in the liquor industry, alcoholic beverages which are certified as kosher are preferable to those which are merely "Approved"

This list is updated regularly and should be considered accurate until December 31, 2024

cRc - Liquor List

American Whiskey

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Acceptable. In general, American Whiskey does not require kosher certification. (See elsewhere for general recommendations for Bourbon and Rye.) Two exceptions are: 1 - Some have begun adding flavors and/or aging the liquor in wine casks. Such items would not be acceptable without certification, and consumers can determine if a given liquor has this issue by carefully reading the bottle's label. 2 - Some whiskey companies are owned by Jews who do not sell their chametz; those brands are not recommended and are listed below. See <http://bit.ly/AKOAlert> for details. Nevertheless, due to potential kashrus considerations regarding flavorings and blending materials used in standard American and Blended Whiskey, it is preferable to only use products labeled as "Straight" whiskey. White Whiskey and Moonshine require certification.

Beer

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Acceptable. All standard unflavored beers with no additives are acceptable, even without Kosher certification. This applies to beers which are domestic or imported, light or dark, and even non-alcoholic beers. The exceptions to that rule are beers from home and pub breweries, breweries which produce non-kosher beer, Jewish-owned breweries, beers from Israel, milk stouts, beers that contain lactose, and flavored beers (which includes those flavored with spices, botanicals, fruits, or anything else); these beers are only acceptable if certified kosher. That said, some breweries produce non-kosher beer on the same equipment as their standard unflavored beer in ways that compromise the kosher status of the kosher beer. Further, the usage of lactose, dairy and possibly non-kosher, is becoming more prevalent. Therefore, it is strongly recommended to only consume beer with a reliable hechsher.

Bourbon

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Acceptable. In general, bourbon does not require kosher certification. Two exceptions are: 1 - Some have begun adding flavors and/or aging the liquor in wine casks. Such items would not be acceptable without certification, and consumers can determine if a given liquor has this issue by carefully reading the bottle's label. 2 - Some bourbon companies are owned by Jews who do not sell their chametz; those brands are not recommended and are listed below. See <http://bit.ly/AKOAlert> for details.

Canadian Whisky

Canadian Whisky often contains added wine. This wine, assumed to be non-kosher, creates considerable kashrus concerns. This applies even to products labeled as 100% Rye. Accordingly, Canadian Whisky is recommended only if it is known to only contain kosher ingredients or has reliable certification.

Not Recommended unless purchased before Pesach 2009/5769

Gin

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Acceptable. Standard gin is recommended without hashgacha (even when containing juniper berries and other botanicals) unless the label states that it is produced from grapes, wine, milk, lactose, or whey. Special attention should be paid to gin from France, New Zealand, and Australia. Flavored gin (e.g. Lemon-flavored gin) requires hashgacha. Sloe Gin is a liqueur and requires certification.

Irish Whiskey

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Acceptable. Many Irish Whiskies are aged in casks that previously held sherry, sauterne, port or other wines. Others have special "finishes" or multiple "maturations" that include aging in wine casks. All of these practices raise kashrus concerns. The cRc policy is that Irish Whiskey is permitted unless the label or company website state that it is aged in a wine cask, has a special finish, or an extra maturation (as noted above). The label and company website of each bottle should be carefully checked before using it, and one should avoid wording such as double or triple finish, double or triple matured, dual casks or finish, European or French casks, Madeira finish, port, sauterne, or sherry and other wine casks. The cRc listings of acceptable Irish Whiskies includes products that are certified and/or known to not have been aged in wine casks.

Not Recommended unless purchased before Pesach 2017/5777

Rye

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Acceptable. In general, rye does not require kosher certification. Two exceptions are: 1 - Some have begun adding flavors and/or aging the liquor in wine casks. Such items would not be acceptable without certification, and consumers can determine if a given liquor has this issue by carefully reading the bottle's label. 2 - Some rye companies are owned by Jews who do not sell their chametz; those brands are not recommended and are listed below. See <http://bit.ly/AKOAlert> for details. Nevertheless, due to potential kashrus considerations regarding flavorings and blending materials used in standard Rye Whiskey, it is preferable to only use products labeled as "Straight" Rye Whiskey.

Sake

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Acceptable. Unflavored sake is acceptable without hashgacha. Flavored sake (e.g., Coconut Sake) and sake which states on the label or company website that it was aged or finished in wine casks, require hashgacha. Ozeki Sake (U.S.A.) - Nigori Sake with Strawberry	OK*		 Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Acceptable. Many Scotches are aged in casks that previously held sherry, sauterne, port or other wines. Others have special "finishes" or multiple "maturation" that include aging in wine casks. All of these practices raise kashrus concerns. The cRc policy is that Scotch is permitted unless the label or company website state that it is aged in a wine cask, has a special finish, or an extra maturation (as noted above). The label and company website of each bottle should be carefully checked before using it, and one should avoid wording such as double or triple finish, double or triple matured, dual casks or finish, European or French casks, Madeira finish, port, sauterne, or sherry and other wine casks. The cRc listings of acceptable Scotches includes products that are certified and/or known to not have been aged in wine casks.

Tequila

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Acceptable. Unflavored Blanco Tequila may be used without hashgacha provided that it is made from 100% agave and is CRT approved (with the exception of those products which state on the label or company website that they were aged or finished in sherry or other wine casks). Regarding Anejo and Reposado Tequila, and other aged varieties, it is advisable to only utilize with a reliable hechsher due to the possibility that it may contain non-kosher glycerin. Flavored Tequila, Rosa Tequila, Cristalino, and Mezcal require a reliable hechsher.
